

Benefit from a rapid increase in fashion accessory output in Indonesia

Published: February 2012

A sense of guarded optimism prevails over the fashion accessories industry in Indonesia. Although exports are forecast to increase this year, many companies anticipate foreign income to be affected by the growing instability in the EU as a result of the sovereign debt crisis.

Revenue in recent years has been generally on an upward trend, even during the global financial slump. It declined in 2011, however, because of economic troubles in the EU and rising domestic demand.

The sector is largely composed of small and midsize suppliers, which typically suffer from insufficient capability for product development and market expansion. To overcome these limitations, local industry groups extend assistance to enterprises by means of training and exposure to international trade shows.

This report focuses on the main types of footwear from Indonesia – belts, fashion bags and wallets, jewelry, and head- and neckwear.
